PEKING, Sept. 4.—(By the Associated Press)—A Mitsui wireless message received here today from Japan estimated the total casualties at Tokio at 500,000 and said the property loss was incalculable. The message said the American Embassy had burned. The Imperial Hotel was little damaged, it said and has been assigned as a refuge for foreign sufferers.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—(By the Associated Press)—The State Department received a dispatch from American Consul Davis at Shanghai saying that Tokio, Yokohama and Yokosuka had been "completely wiped out."

Casualties among foreigners he said, had been "very numerous."

Revolt Stalks In Greece, Report

Italy Denies League Right To Interfere

ROME, Sept. 4.—(By the Associated Press)—A counter-revolutionary movement is under way in Greece, says a dispatch received today. The movement is gaining ground despite drastic measures taken by the government including the immediate arrest of all suspects and the confiscation of arms, the dispatch says.

The followers of the late Constantine are said to be preparing for action.

Athens is completely isolated and the Greek government is allowing no reports concerning the grave international situation to be sent from the capital.

Hand Of America Reaches Across Sea To Aid Stricken Japan

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—(By the Associated Press)—Officials here were preparing to press forward today their plans for extending every possible means of American aid to the earthquake sufferers of Japan on receipt of fuller advice as to the needs of that situation, and indication of the most effective measures of relief.

While Americans individually throughout the country were responding to the proclamation appeal issued by President Coolidge for contributions through the American Red Cross, ships of the army and navy already were either under way or loading with supplies for the relief of the stricken area.

In addition, the entire Asiatic fleet has been placed at the disposal of the Japanese minister of marine for any possible plans were said to contemplate the use of other government vessels including some of the shipping board, if necessary, as supply carriers.

After American relief plans had been discussed yesterday at the White House and at the state, war, navy and other departments, it was announced last night that the destroyer tender Black Hawk, would be loaded on her arrival at Chefoo, China, with one million pounds of rice and 500,000 pounds of other non-perishable foods to be rushed to the earthquake sufferers.

Transportation to the stricken area was ordered by the state department at the same time.

Coal Strike May Make Or Mar Chances Of Coolidge

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—(By the Associated Press)—The coal strike may make or mar President Coolidge's chances for nomination at the 1924 Republican convention in the opinion of Frederick V. Upland, treasurer of the National Republican committee, who let it be known, returning yesterday from abroad, that Chicago, "being the geographically logical place for it," probably would be the scene of the next Republican National Convention. That city, he said, is the choice of a majority of the committee.

Mr. Upland predicted that President Coolidge would be nominated next year to succeed himself; "if he has a chance, meantime, to demonstrate his ability and if he chooses to be a candidate," he added.

"The president," he added, "has many hurdles to negotiate between now and next June, and he has not demonstrated what he can or will do. If he seeks the nomination he will be in the position of political harness, because he will go into the convention as the reigning head of his party."

Other "formidable" candidates, Mr. Upland thought, would be Senator La Follette, of Wisconsin; Senator Johnson, of California; and Governor Lowden, of Illinois.

La Follette, former chairman of the United States shipping board, has consented to manage Senator Johnson's campaign, he added.

Senator Johnson, of Indiana, has a good chance as a candidate for the Democratic nomination, Mr. Upland said he had learned from members of the Democratic National Committee.

Young Teddy "a comer," Mr. Upland predicted that Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., will be president some day "if he is not too ambitious and does not try to run too soon."

President Coolidge would be an ideal candidate for the party to run in 1924, "because he's light on his expense account," Mr. Upland said, "fitting this as one of the qualifications which made the president popular with him in the days when Calvin Coolidge was only an industrialist's servant."

"If never known, a man who'd go out and make a couple of campaign speeches and send in as small an expense account as Calvin," said Mr. Upland. "He didn't know what it was to pad an account."

"Even as vice president," he refused to travel in a Pullman drawing room. "A berth upper or lower, is good enough for me," he would say. "The funds of the party are sacred." He was a rare politician in that respect. "He said the Republican party gradually was liquidating the deficit of two to three million dollars it accumulated during the Harding campaign and the joke of it is, Harding would have been elected if we hadn't spent $95."

League May Interfere Is General Opinion

Copyright, 1923, by David Lawrence

Washington, September 4.—Italy's refusal to permit her controversy with Greece to be considered by the League of Nations at Geneva on the ground that the present Greek Government has not been recognized by the powers as legal, need not prevent the league from assuming jurisdiction.

This is the view taken by those who have studied the conduct of the League of Nations, particularly the famous Article 11, which was often interpreted by President Wilson in his speeches as giving the nation the right to bring to the attention of the league any dispute in any part of the world likely to affect the peace of the world whether it was between a member of the league and a non-member. Indeed Lord Robert Cecil on his recent visit to the United States declared that, under Article 11, the reparations dispute could be considered, but that out of deference to the wishes of France because the parties interested believed they could ultimately adjust the matter by direct negotiation between Government.

In the present case one of the two

Walton's War On Mob Rule Finish Fight

HARTSHORNE, OKLA., Sept. 4.—(By the Associated Press)—Mob violence in Oklahoma will, he stamped out if it is necessary to put every national guardman in the state on duty and call for volunteers. Governor Walton told several club members of Eastern Oklahoma, gathered at a Labor Day picnic here.

"I may have to come over here and ask some of you people to help me, but I am going to straighten out some of these counties even if I run short of troops and have to go on the job myself," the governor said.

The executive vigorously defended his action in suspending the writ of habeas corpus in Tulsa county, reading from the law to sustain his position.

Under the provisions of the governor's martial law proclamation, a prisoner seized by the military may be held indefinitely.

Governor Walton contends that he has ample legal authority in holding that all civil agencies, including the courts, are entirely subservient to the military when martial law is declared at the demand of public safety.

On the other hand those who disagree with a section of the state constitution which reads:

"The privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall never be suspended by the authorities of this state."

Knights Scores Ohio Tax Laws

WOOSTER, O., Sept. 4.—(By the Associated Press)—Former Congressman Charles L. Knight, of Akron, speaking at a Kiwanis Club luncheon here today declared "Ohio has the worst taxation laws in the United States and we are doing our best to perpetuate them."

Condemning the Taft act, which allowed to stand, he said, means that henceforth and indefinitely the burden of taxation in Ohio must be borne by real estate, while the intangible wealth of the state goes untaxed. "The act," he declared, should be nullified by the people, if only for this reason.

"The Taft act," he declared, "is a measure especially formulated for the tax spenders. By adding two mills that may be used for running expenses of cities, it will place great sums at the disposal of politicians with which to create more offices and jobs."

Referring to the Albaugh bill, he declared it "was conceived to place the power of valuing property in the hands of the tax spenders in each county and its inevitable effect will be to add another cog to political machines and at last place the taxing power squarely in the hands of the political bosses."

SEEK MAN ADRIFT IN ERIE

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 4.—(By the Associated Press)—Coast guards, aircraft and radio were pressed into service today in the search for William Taylor, 22, who drifted into Lake Erie in a canoe yesterday.

He was last seen about noon when campers said they saw him waving a white flag apparently fashioned from a shirt tied to a broken paddle. Then an off-shore breeze sprang up and he drifted from sight.

Huge Swells On U. S. Coast Reaction Of Jap Earthquake

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 4.—Ground swells 20 feet high, larger than any in the experience of mariners at Los Angeles harbor, struck the Southern California coast early today and were believed to have been the result of the earthquake and tidal waves which devastated parts of Japan.

The swells broke completely over the fifteen-foot breakwater and carried away all loose objects, including a boat tender, at the light house and considerable lumber piled along the shore.

Naval observers said no storm of any size had been reported anywhere on the Pacific and they thought the huge swells were the reactions on this coast from the Tokio catastrophe.

At Santa Barbara, Cal., the high tide came in with a force which washed the shores for the last 30 hours. Since yesterday afternoon six and eight foot waves have driven bathers back on the beach and at one time the tide came to the sea wall at the foot of the beach for the first time in several years.

U. S. Diplomat Is Victim Of Jap Disaster

SHANGHAI, Sept. 4.—(By the Associated Press)—The United States Consul General at Yokohama and his wife were killed in the disaster, according to radio message from the steamship Jefferson at Yokohama. Their names were not given.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—(By the Associated Press)—The United States Consul General at Yokohama had been killed in the earthquake disaster was thought by state department officials to refer to Max D. Kirjassoff, of Waterbury, Conn., the consul there who has been acting as consul general since the death last year of Consul General George H. Sedmore, of Wisconsin.

Consul Kirjassoff, a native of Russia, entered the consular service in 1914, after completing his education at Yale, Harvard and the School of Political Science at Paris. He was born at Waterbury, Conn., and was a member of the Yale and Harvard fraternities. He was assigned to Tokyo, February 26, 1920.

Confirms Consul's Death

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—(By the Associated Press)—Ambassador Woods advised the State Department today in the first message received from him since the earthquake, that none of the embassy staff was injured, although all embassy buildings were totally destroyed.

Consul Kirjassoff confirmed that Max D. Kirjassoff, American consul at Yokohama, and his wife are dead.

The dispatch, dated at noon today and based on information received from the steamship President Jefferson, said:

"Yokohama completely wiped out by earthquake and fire. Tokio and Yokosuka also. Refugees report Nishinoshima and Hakone also destroyed. Admiral Oriental line of fire ruined; everything lost; all employees safe."

Business And Pleasure Combine In G. A. R. Program

MILWAUKEE, WIS., Sept. 4.—(By the Associated Press)—Lake trips, a little business and an evening of entertainment, make up today's program for the members of the G. A. R. and auxiliary bodies in annual conventions here.

The heaviest convention work is set for late today when the various committees will report to Chief of Staff George A. Hasley, for parade instructions.

Last night and today traffic police regulated the transportation of visiting G. A. R. members by commandeering any passing automobile which had a vacant seat, and advising the driver of the soldiers' destinations, with instruction to carry them there.

Tonight entertainment will consist of a large display of fire works, combined with a sham battle in which twelve companies of Wisconsin National Guard will demonstrate the usages of modern warfare in an attempt to prevent the landing of the complement of four submarine chasers, which arrived here today for the "invasion."

In addition, the days of the Civil War will be depicted in a floating display of fireworks, which will show among other things General Lee's surrender and a Civil War battle.

SHANGHAI, Sept. 4.—(By the Associated Press)—Tokio still in flames, loss of life there alone at least 150,000, damage perhaps half a billion yen (about $250,000,000). These were the latest estimates received here this afternoon in a special dispatch by the eastern news agency from Osaka.

Restoration of telegraphic communication between Asaka and Tokio brought the capital a flood of delayed messages of condolence from the rulers and executives of the world powers.

BODIES CLOG RIVER

TOKIO, Sept. 4.—(By the Associated Press)—Innumerable bodies of earthquake victims are clogging the river Sumida which flows through Tokio.

Thousands of frenzied men and women, overcome with excitement and fatigue, went mad and threw themselves into the river when the shocks were occurring.

Thousands of others perished when the bridges across the Sumida river collapsed.

SHOCKS CONTINUE

OSAKA, Sept. 4.—(By the Associated Press)—Earthquakes shock continue at intervals around Kawaguchi, which is on the only railway open out of Tokio.

The shock of yesterday morning, followed by fire wiped out Kawaguchi. Dowager Princess Yoshiko, was crushed to death at Odawara. The dowager Princess Yamashina met the same fate at Kamakura.

In Tokio, Ichigaya prison was threatened by fire and about 1,500 prisoners were freed. They included Toshihiko Saki, the communist leader and other communists.

The fourteenth division at Utsunomiya and thirteenth division at Takata were marching toward Tokio today.

RIOTING MENACES CITIES

SHANGHAI, Sept. 4.—(By the Associated Press)—Reports received here today said rioting menaced the destroyed Japanese cities. Two hundred Koreans driven from Tokio by soldiers enforcing martial law, procured arms in Hanchi and started a disturbance. The police were arming officials and citizens to cope with the situation, according to a Japanese agency which stated that the rioting Koreans had connections between Tokio and Yokohama.

ROYALTY AMONG DEAD

NAGASAKI, Sept. 4.—(By the Associated Press)—Prince Shimadzu, formerly of the great house of Salama, is reported to have been killed in the disaster. Several others of royal blood also are said to have lost their lives or to have been injured.

LONDON, Sept. 4.—(By the Associated Press)—The British Consul at Yokohama and about 100 of the foreign residents of the city are believed to be dead, according to dispatches received by the Central News by way of Shanghai. Shipping is still unable to enter Yokohama harbor, owing to continued submarine upheavals.

(By The Associated Press)

Virtual destruction of Tokio and Yokohama are reported in the first direct communication from Tokio by the outside world since earthquake and tidal waves, followed by fire, laid waste an important section of Honshu, chief island of Japan, last Saturday. The communication was from an Associated Press staff correspondent.

The first comprehensive view of the havoc wrought, was received in cable advices from Genoa.

It appears from these that the disaster is greater than previous reports have indicated. The ministry of marine estimates the dead in Tokio alone at 150,000; the best estimates place the dead in Yokohama at 100,000; virtual destruction of Nagoya, a town of 620,000, is reported, and Yokosuka, a town of 70,000, is said to have been wiped out by the successive attacks of earthquake, tidal wave and fire.

Grave damage has been done in the summer resort regions about Hakone and on the Izu peninsula. Monetary loss in Tokio alone is placed at five billion yen.

Martial law is effective in the stricken cities; none may enter without the most urgent reasons, or without carrying their own food supplies.

More than 3,500,000 bushels of rice are being rushed from Southern Japanese ports and from Korea to the stricken regions, where thousands are reported starving, and in Tokio, suffering from thirst, because the earthquake wrecked the water supply system. Water is being doled out.

Coolidge Urges American People To Aid Stricken Isles

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—An appeal to the American people to contribute to the relief of the people of Japan was issued today by President Coolidge.

The American Red Cross was designated as the organization to which relief contributions should be transmitted.

At the same time it was made clear that such assistance was within the means of the executive branches of the government would also be rendered.

Anxiety In Kobe

KOBE, September 4.—(By A. P.)—There is the greatest anxiety here in regard to the large foreign settlement at Kokohama, but no names of those who lost their lives or were injured have been received. It is feared the death toll was heavy in the settlement. A Japanese steamer in Yokohama harbor wireless that the city was unrecognizable.

Railway communication with Tokio is reported to have been restored within seven miles of the city although Yokohama appears to be isolated. Because of the fire the ships which survived the tidal wave are declared to be keeping well out in the harbor.

Local U. B. Ministers Returned

Local delegates upon their return from the twenty-third annual session of the Southeast Ohio conference of United Brethren churches, held in Columbus last week, bring back the news of Rev. E. H. Dailly's appointment to the First U. B. Church of this city for his fourth year.

Rev. Dailly's return, had been sought for by the local congregation and the conference officials were very glad to comply with the wishes of the local membership in returning Rev. Dailly to this field for another year.

Rev. C. M. Sweazey of the Navvoo U. B. Church was also returned for another year. Rev. Sweazey and his congregation are planning great things for the coming year to the growing Navvoo community and expect before long to enter upon the work of building a handsome new church on their recently acquired ground. The entire conference are looking forward to a great year at Navvoo with the return of Rev. Sweazey.

The Bear Creek and Long Run churches will again be ministered to by Rev. Charles Bremmer this year. These churches came in for a great amount of praise at the conference as they were in paying their benevolent budget which was overpaid 30 per cent.

North Moreland U. B. Church is unsupplied. Rev. Hay Johnson, who has been pastor at this church for the past few months, will probably enter Berea Theological Seminary, at Dayton, this fall.

Other appointments made Sunday include the following: Bellpoint, Rev. John Bowser; Bremen, Rev. O. W. Smith; Chillicothe, First church, Rev. R. A. Smith; Tyler Memorial, Rev. J. H. Conkel; Circleville, Rev. S. W. Miles; Coalton, Rev. Silas Smith; Washington Avenue of Columbus, Rev. Arthur R. Cox; Waverly, Rev. C. P. Campbell; Burgess Avenue of Columbus, Rev. W. E. Riebel; Hamden, Rev. J. W. Helchar; Ironton, A. O. Wright of Tennessee; Jacksonville, Rev. George Helchar; Rossville, Rev. Robert Gehres; Oak Hill, Rev. C. H. Anderson; Jackson, Rev. E. B. White; Wellston, Rev. W. F. Rutherford; Crown City, Rev. Waldo Reaver.

At the closing sessions held Sunday in Memorial Hall great crowds heard Bishop A. R. Clippinger preach two strong sermons. Mrs. E. H. Dailly also sang a beautiful solo to the delight of all present. The meeting place of next year's conference has not been definitely decided, but First Church of Chillicothe are making a strong effort to have the conference held in that city.

Ford Demolished In A Collision

When a Ford touring car owned and driven by a man from Lytham, Pike County, and a Chevrolet touring car driven by Ernest Cooke, Columbus fire dealer, departed the right of way on Scioto Trail near the Bannon farm, shortly after one o'clock Monday afternoon, the Ford lost the decision as it was almost entirely demolished.

Cooke, who was returning from Huntington, W. Va., to Columbus, shouldered all the blame for the collision, claiming that the rain on his windshield was responsible for the crash, and promptly agreed to buy the Pike county man a new Ford for the wrecked one. The Chevrolet was also badly damaged and both cars were taken to a Lucasville garage. Occupants of both cars escaped injury.

Negro Shot, May Die; Two Slashed In Three Cornered Fight In New Boston

William Sparks, aged 25, colored, lies in a critical condition in Hemstead hospital, the result of being shot three times Monday night by a negro, who is known by the name of Jesse Hardy, aged 30. Hardy made his getaway after the shooting, which occurred on Gallia avenue, near the Lakeside Hotel, and was the climax to a dancing party held in John Bell's soft drink parlor, just this side of the Lakeside Hotel on Gallia avenue. New Boston officers after investigating the shooting and knife play staged by Sparks and a colored man known as Luther Scrub, just before Sparks was shot, say the trouble was caused by too much moonshine and jealousy.

They made a thorough search all through New Boston last night and today for Hardy and Scrub and a woman known as Etta Davis, but failed to locate them. Despite the fact that that Scrub is supposed to have been stabbed twice by Sparks before the latter was wounded.

Hardy, who will face a charge of shooting with intent to kill if apprehended, is very dark and wore a light shirt and dark trousers last night.

Scrub is about 6 feet tall, is very dark and had on a gray shirt and dark trousers. Both he and Hardy have been employed in the Portsmouth Works, Wheeling Steel Corporation.

After Sparks was wounded he was conveyed to Hemstead hospital, where three wounds were dressed by Drs. A. P. Hunt and D. A. Berard. One bullet entered his left side and came out the right side, passing through the colon. This wound is an exceedingly dangerous one and may result in his death, attending physicians said Tuesday. One bullet inflicted a flesh wound on the left elbow and one inflicted a flesh wound on the right side. Sparks spent a restless night, but was reported better today. He says his home is in Chattanooga, Tenn., and that he has been working for the N. & W. here.

To a Times man in Hemstead hospital this morning Sparks gave an account of the shooting and cutting affairs as follows: "I was dancing with Etta Davis of 1314 Union street, as I rooms at her place. As we swung around to the west side of Joe Bell's place I accidentally stepped on the toes of Joe Hardy. He yanked out his knife and cut me on the right side of the head. I got the knife away from him and cut him once, I believe, and then cut Scrub two or three times, as he was with Hardy and had made threats against me. While this was going on Bell told us to get out of his place and it was while we were on the pike walking to Thomas Wray's place that Hardy pulled out his gun and shot me three times. He didn't give me a square deal or me or him would not be here today if he had.

Sparks stated that Hardy was sore because he had been dancing with the Davis woman and jealousy prompted the knife and gun play.

Quick Action Prevents Fire

The prompt action of employees at the Portsmouth Oil Company's filling station at Gallia and Young streets, supported by Fire Companies Nos. 1 and 2, averted what might have been a serious fire Monday night when a gas tank on the rear of Thomas Faught's Overland machine, which was being filled, caught fire. The oil tank-light of the auto set fire to the gasoline vapor. The burning house was quickly jerked from the tank and the fire extinguished by a hand chemical apparatus before the tank could explode. The car had just been pushed out of the way of the station and the blaze put out when the fire companies arrived.

TWO DIE SUDDENLY; CORONER IS CALLED

Two cases that demanded the attention of the county coroner and wherein the deaths were similar occurred Saturday and Sunday when Mrs. William F. Brown of 2354 Ninth street and Levi Fowler of Turkey Creek died suddenly. Both passed away a few minutes after leaving a room where they were talking to relatives and walking into adjoining rooms.

Mrs. Brown
Organic heart trouble was given as the cause of the death of Mrs. Davis Cook, Brown, wife of William F. Brown who died suddenly at her home 2354 Ninth street about 1:30 Saturday afternoon. Dr. A. A. Wikoff who was called, found the woman beyond medical aid, acted in the absence of Corner Virgil Fowler, and gave organic heart troubles as the cause of death.

Mrs. Brown had been ailing for a long time but her condition was not considered serious. She had not been bedfast and of late had not been complaining. Just fifteen minutes before she was found lifeless on the front room floor of her home by her son Wilford Cook, she was talking to her foster sister Mrs. Hannah Woods of Eighth street. Mrs. Brown then went into the front room while Mrs. Woods used the telephone.

While Mrs. Woods was using the telephone the son arrived at the front door and on looking in discovered his mother on the floor.

Mrs. Brown was born in Chillicothe, 47 years ago. Her parents moved to Portsmouth when she was a girl, 35 years of her life being spent in this city.

Surviving are three sons Emil B.

Cook, Clyde L. Cook and Wilford Cook, all by the first marriage. Mrs. Letha Woods of Columbus was a sister of Mrs. Brown who also leaves a foster sister Mrs. Hannah Woods of this city, and two foster brothers, Squire C. O. Davis of New Boston and Howard Davis of Akron.

Mrs. Brown was a member of the First Christian church and leaves a legion of friends who will be sorry to learn of her death.

Funeral services were held from the home at two o'clock this afternoon with Rev. Charles Reinhard of the Sciotoville Christian church in charge in the absence of Rev. Gerald Culbertson of the First Christian church.

Levi Fowler
Sudden death the result of a ruptured blood vessel in the lungs caused to Levi, well known farmer of Turkey Creek Sunday afternoon about 2:30 o'clock at the home of a relative where his family made their home. Mr. Fowler had been in poor health for several years but had not been in a serious condition of late. Sunday afternoon after talking to members of his family he went into an adjoining bedroom. A few minutes later the members of the family heard a noise in the room and on going in found Mr. Fowler on the floor and bleeding at the mouth. Dr. N. Hopkins was called and he found Mr. Fowler beyond human aid and then called Coroner Fowler. An examination of the body disclosed the fact that death was caused by a ruptured blood vessel in the lungs.

Levi Fowler was 47 years of age. He had spent most of his life as a farmer on the West Side and was well known in the vicinity of Turkey Creek and Friendship.

Surviving are his widow and two young sons. He also leaves a sister Mrs. Laura Statia and a brother Alonzo Fowler of Turkey Creek and a sister in California.

Funeral services were held from the home at two o'clock this afternoon with burial in the Friendship cemetery.

Attorney A. C. Woodrow Suffers Fractured Skull In Fall; Condition Very Serious

Attorney Alex C. "Sandy" Woodrow, widely known local lawyer, is in a grave condition in Hemstead hospital suffering from a serious skull fracture which he sustained Sunday night in a fall down a flight of stairs at his office and apartments on the second floor of the building at 335 Third street, where he lived alone.

It is not known how far Attorney Woodrow fell but he was with him at the time but Jack Sprague, an East End young man, who chanced to be passing the house heard a noise like someone falling which led him to investigate. Going inside he found the barrister on the floor of the hallway at the foot of the stairs and glanced convinced him that the man was badly hurt.

Dr. George Martin was called and Mr. Woodrow, who was unconscious, was hurried to an ambulance to Fowler's laboratory where an x-ray showed a serious skull fracture extending through the right temporal bone to the base of the brain. The injured man was then removed to the hospital where he remained in an unconscious condition, except at short intervals throughout the day and last night. There was little or no improvement in his condition Tuesday and there is little hope for his recovery as the attending surgeon states there is much danger of an internal hemorrhage.

Mrs. J. W. Kirkland, of Columbus, sister, and only close relative of Mr.

Woodrow arrived here last night to be at the bedside of her brother.

"Human Wreckage" Truly A Big Picture

The exquisite appeal of Mrs. Reid, the power and delicate shading with which James Kirkwood has invested his role, the stark pathos of Berrie Love and the brilliant work of other members of the cast easily combine to make Mrs. Reid's anti-narcotic production, "Human Wreckage," one of the most extraordinary photoplays in the recent history of the screen. Sponsored by thousands of leading statesmen, including President Harding, and virtually every Governor, Senator and Congressman in the United States, it was revealed for the first time yesterday at the Eastland Theatre where it will be shown all this week.

"Human Wreckage" is not the story of the sufferings of the lamented Wallace Reid nor is it the record of his own wife's ordeal in her courageous effort to help him break the shackles of addiction that bound him. It is in no sense biographical. From first to last the picture is an extraordinary dramatic entertainment of the most powerful and appealing character, with abundant human touches and scenes in which Mrs. Reid, Mr. Kirkwood and Miss Love, not to mention George Hackathorne and others, rise to exceptional histrionic heights.

The story has to do with the struggle of a brilliant lawyer, Mr. MacFarland, portrayed by James Kirkwood, who becomes an addict. At the outset he is an implacable foe of the dope ring and through his own efforts saves a boy from going to jail because of a crime committed while under the influence of an opiate. Then MacFarland himself falls prey to drugs. He is fatigued from overwork and summons a physician in the absence of his own family doctor. The one he calls is an unscrupulous user of drugs and prescribes morphine for the attorney. Then begins his troubles. MacFarland's struggles to rid himself of the loathsome habit forms one of the most dramatic passages ever projected on the screen. The sequence in which it is seen beyond question the most powerful scene the screen has ever shown.

Miss Love also reaches towering heights of sheer art in the death scene. It is the tragedy of the heart that no time does "Human Wreckage" become morbid. It is entertainment of the most unusual character. The direction by John Griffith Wray establishes that skillful showman and artist in the very front rank of his field. For Mrs. Reid, Mr. Kirkwood and Miss Love there are abundant honors. The members of the cast include Lucille Ricks, George Hackathorne, Robert McKim, Harry North.

Negro Slashed; Wife Being Held

Will Chaney, negro, was treated late last night at police headquarters for an ugly gash on his left breast inflicted by a knife and his wife, Mary Chaney, also colored, was locked up at the city prison in connection with the cutting.

The woman denied doing the cutting and claims that Chaney was slashed at the New Boston dance as she was taking him out of the house to get him home, and insists that her husband took the knife away from his assailant and handed it to her. Arriving at their home in the North End, Mrs. Chaney declares they became involved in a domestic row but when the police arrived to stop the trouble she was holding a bloody pocket knife, and blood was spurting from a four inch gash in Chaney's breast, the police say. Both were brought to police station where Chaney's wound was attended by Dr. O. D. Talley.

League May

(Continued from Page One) parties to the dispute actually appealed to the league which can not say it will keep hands off out of deference to Italy without seeming to take the side of Italy. The question of whether the present Greek Government has the right to appeal to the league is not considered pertinent here for it is pointed out by international lawyers that the Greek membership in the League of Nations is not a membership of any particular administration or regime, but it is permanent. In other words the Greek nation enjoys the membership to the fullest extent irrespective of the existing type of government in Greece. Nations do not lose their treaty right simply because of an internal revolution or domestic disturbance. Ample precedent is afforded in the case of the United States and Mexico. No recognized government has existed in Mexico for several years, but the United States has insisted upon protecting American property rights under earlier treaties made between the Mexican people and American people.

The general feeling here is that Italy has seized upon the pretext of an unrecognized government in Athens as a means of spicing the issue so far as the league is concerned. It involves the acid test. Should the League of Nations accept the Italian interpretation and keep hands off, Article 11 of the covenant will become a dead letter and faith in the league itself will be lost by many of its warmest supporters. It shows the league, on the other hand, step in and call Italy to task for violating the Versailles treaty—as the covenant is an integral part of the treaty—the prestige of the League of Nations will rise considerably. The main value of the league which has been admitted by its staunchest opponents has been that part of the Versailles covenant which makes it obligatory for any nation having a dispute with another to wait at least three months before beginning hostilities. The belief was that during the three months' inquiry a peaceful solution would be devised especially as national passions would be expected to subside during the waiting period.

The doctrine of a cooling-off spell was promulgated by Secretary of State William Jennings Bryan in 30 treaties between the United States and all the important powers of the world except Turkey, Japan, Germany and Mexico. There never has been an important test of the principle until the present outbreak of hostilities between Greece and Italy. The question now being asked is whether a nation in time of excitement over a massacre of its citizens would be likely to care any more for treaty obligations than did Germany when she made a copy of paper of her treaty with Belgium in 1914.

While the United States Government is not taking any part in the effort to bring Italy and Greece together the authorities here are watching to see whether the mediation of the League of Nations will be successful. If it is not, there is nothing to prevent the Department of State through American Ambassadors abroad from exercising good offices in an attempt to bring about a peaceful settlement.

The Italian Government just now is very anxious to be on good terms with Washington and might be more willing to listen to a voice from afar than a European intermediary. The next few days will decide whether the old-fashioned diplomatic intervention is to be of any avail.

What This Buffalo Physician Has Done For Humanity

The picture which appears here of Dr. Pierce of Buffalo, N. Y., was taken in 1910. As a young man Dr. Pierce practiced medicine in Pennsylvania and was known far and wide for his great success in alleviating disease. He early moved to Buffalo and put up in ready-to-use form, his Golden Medical Discovery, the well-known tonic for the blood. This strength-builder is made from a formula which Dr. Pierce found most effective in diseases of the blood. It contains no alcohol and is an extract of native roots with the ingredients plainly stated on the wrapper. Good red blood, vim, vigor and vitality are sure to follow if you take this Alternative Extract. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery clears away pimples and annoying eruptions and tends to keep the complexion fresh and clear. This Discovery corrects the blood, disorders conditions in a sick stomach, aids digestion, acts as a tonic and purifies the blood. Write Dr. Pierce's Invalids Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., and receive confidential medical advice without charge. All druggists sell Discovery tablets, liquid. Send 10c for trial pig.—Advertisement.

(Continued from Page One) ATHENS, September 4.—(By Associated Press)—Stephens E. Lowe, of St. Louis, member of the Red Cross and attached to the Near East Relief at Corfu, reports that altogether there were twenty killed by the Italian bombardment prior to the occupation of the island. Among them were sixteen children, most of them killed by shrapnel which was fired among a crowd of Red Cross orphanage children bathing in the sea.

No Trouble To Keep Skin Free From Hairs

(The Modern Beauty) There is no need for any woman to countenance superfluous hairs, because with a paste made by mixing some powdered delatone with water it is easy to get rid of them. Mix fresh as wanted. The paste is applied for about 2 minutes, then rubbed off, and the skin washed. There is also a liquid delatone which is simple to use and produces perfect results in removing the hair, and so mixing to do, and has no odor and does not burn. See that you get real delatone powder or the liquid delatone. Ask for each article in the original package and accept no substitutes.—Advertisement.

(Press)—New precautionary arrests have been made on the island of Corfu by the Italian occupying forces and the governor has divided the island into zones which are presided over by the military.

The consuls of foreign governments resident in Corfu were informed today by the governor that merchandise on boats in Corfu before the Italian occupation began, and from those boats which the Italians have permitted to dock, excepting those of Greece, might be unloaded.

ATHENS, September 4.—(By Associated Press)—The first direct news from Corfu since Italian occupation was received today with the arrival of the Greek steamship Ismini which had aboard Colonel Lowe, Miss Emma Wood of Baltimore, Chief nurse of the Corfu Near East Relief hospital, Dr. Kennedy, of Kingston, Ont., director of the British Save-the-Children fund, together with a group of expelled Greek officials and sixty Greek soldiers.

Col. Lowe, described the bombardment said: "The number killed reached twenty-nine of these were killed outright and eleven died in hospitals. Thirty-two wounded are now in hospitals and there were perhaps fifty slightly wounded."

"Of the twenty dead, sixteen were children. All the killed and wounded were taken to hospital from American and British orphanages housed in the old fortress."

The large number of children among the casualties was due to the fact that several shells landed in barracks which were being used as orphanages, and in the water in front of the fortress where four hundred Near East Relief orphan boys were bathing.

Greece is Despondent
 GENEVA, September 4.—(By Associated Press)—The commission of the League of Nations at Corfu, Mr. Kennedy, has sent to the Secretary of the league here a protest against the bombardment of the Italians. A telegram was received from him today saying that the Italians fired on the barracks where were sheltered American women and children refugees, several of whom were killed.

Great despondency prevails in Athens, where the fact that Italy was able so quickly to land 15,000 men in Corfu is considered proof of Mussolini's determination. The occupation of Corfu seems to be complete and the Italians have thoroughly organized the place as though for a long stay.

PARIS, Sept. 4.—(By The Associated Press)—The text of Greece's reply to the protest of the Council of Ambassadors over the assassination on Greek soil of the Italian boundary Mission was received today and will be considered by the ambassadors at the earliest opportunity.

The members of the council consider that the Greek-Italian dispute should be settled by the council and not by the League of Nations for the reason that the Italian commissioners were representing the ambassadors in settling the Greece-Albanian frontier question when they were ambushed and slain.

The declarations of the Italian government that it engages itself to evacuate the island of Corfu, when its demands are met by Greece, and that it has no intention of making war, are regarded in official quarters as removing the likelihood of serious future complications.

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Dear Dolly—For the benefit of some foolish people who are making a show of their ignorance, and trying to make others see things as they are by a brain sees them, I will give you a little bit of wisdom. The things I have been told that are on them are too foolish to mention. I want to know what the figure in one corner represents and also what the letter X C stand for.

INTELLIGENT READER
A representative of the United States says that what people think is a figure or picture of someone, is, under a magnifying glass, nothing but a leaf. The letter X or cross is but two bars in the form of a letter X. The letter C is one of the series. The letter D is on another series. You can make some people believe the moon is made out of green cheese if you want to. You know that P. T. Barnum said there was a sucker born every minute, but I think his statement should be revised to read that there are a dozen born every minute. One would think that every day in this day and age, as there are so many people ready to believe every foolish thing that anybody tells them. If they would only take a little time to investigate things before believing them, or of losing things before swallowing them, they would not have so many ignorant suckers in the world. My idea of nothing to worry about, is what is on a one dollar bill so long as it is worth one hundred cents.

Dear Dolly—I am asking you to solve a few questions for me. We are struggling to build a new church and I would like for you to suggest a nice way to help make money to pay for the church. Anything you say on this subject will be appreciated. Dolly, what is good for the goose, is good for the farmer. I have been told that coo butter was good, and if so, is exercise necessary when using it. Dolly, I haven't seen anything like this in print, and that is why I am asking about them. Dolly, don't you think it is a nuisance for people to ask the same things over and over again.

SILVER QUEEN.
There are many ways of making money to pay off a church debt, if the members will all pull together. Now that the oyster season is on, you might try to sell oyster shells, and so on. There is a way to make money at supper, the bazaar, where each member is given an opportunity to donate one or more fancy articles—suitable for Christmas presents or birthday gifts. You could also have an ice cream social or a watermelon party. Think a corn roast would be a drawing card to have at some of your affairs since you live in the country. Anything to get the people there and they will probably spend some money after they get started. An amateur entertainment or musical could be given to vary the program. You could arrange to have something every other week or every month during the winter. In addition to making money for your church, it would provide suitable amusement for the people of your community, which is one of the problems of country life. If you are fat, surely your legs and arms are developed in proportion to your body. Nature usually takes care of that. If not, instead of trying to make them fat why not diet a little, and see if you can't make your body match up with legs and arms. Cocoa butter is recommended for that purpose, but one generally gets disgusted with it before they can see any results.

Dear Dolly—I just love pies, but I never have good luck with my pie crust. You seem good on everything so if you can please tell me a good way to make pie crust. Also a way to make starch for clothes.

ANXIOUS.
In making pies, much depends upon the way you make them. Pastry may be light, flaky, and fairly digestible, or it may be heavy, soggy, and incapable of digestion even by the most healthy person. The baking is especially important, because even good crust, poorly baked is unfit to eat. The oven may be hot, with the greatest heat at the bottom, so that the entire crust may be thoroughly cooked, and cooked before the filling of the pie has a chance to soak in, and make it soggy. Butter makes a more digestible crust than lard, and although the recipes call for lard because that is more available, some other preparation is to be preferred. There are several oils on the market that may be used instead of lard by those who care for them. Here is a good recipe: One cup flour, one half teaspoon of salt, one tablespoon of lard and enough ice water to moisten. The amount of water will depend upon the flour. Here is another recipe: Use a cup of lard to a quart of flour, one teaspoon of salt and enough ice water to moisten. This should make four crusts. Work the lard into the flour with the fingers which should be perfectly clean. After thoroughly mixing, add the water a little at a time, pressing the dough together. Turn out on a well-floured board and roll one way, only. Starch is easy to make. Just buy the prepared starch that comes in boxes from your grocer, and then take as much as you think you will need for your wash, the amount depending on how many articles you have to starch. Dissolve the lumps in cold water, and then pour this into boiling water, stirring all the time so it will not lump. If too thick add more water. You can also buy a preparation at the grocery store to add to the starch to keep it from sticking to the clothes when you iron them. Sometimes paraffin will do, if you haven't anything else in the house.

Dear Dolly—I am coming to you for advice as I am deeply in trouble. I had been going with a man who seemed to have a good reputation, but he proved himself unworthy of a thought. He treated me as nice as could be expected and said he cared for me, but I did not believe him. At last I decided to quit him because I didn't care anything for him. But while we were going together he told me of a certain girl who he said tried to go with him. He told things that were not very good of her and said she was not fit for decent people to be with, but after I quit him he brought her to church with him. I think he did it to spite me, but he was foolish as I am. I am hoping company with another man that I proved himself true in so many ways and I also think he is much more of a gentleman. When I quit the other man I supposed we would be friends, but I have heard several things he has been telling me that are just as bad as he told me the other girl was. I claim him as a friend now. I have brown hair, blue eyes, light complexion, and freckles. Do you think I am good looking, for I am not, or at least I do not think so, but I don't like to have those things told on me, because they are not true. I must keep my name from that if possible. Please give me your best advice on this as I am anxious to know what should be done about it.

COUNTRY GIRL.
The people who know you, and know what kind of a girl you are, will not believe that you are telling about you. Neither should you believe the things he told about the other girl as they may not be true either. A man like that should be ostracized from respectable society. If you know the girl he is going with now you might get together and compare notes and turn him down so flat, he would never be able to get another girl in your neighborhood. This should be a lesson to you to watch your step with the man you are now going with, and don't trust him too far, or give him a chance to do as the other man did.

"I know a secret," screamed Chatterbox

HERE comes Chatterbox Magpie," said Mister Gallop, the cowboy fairy, to the Twins. "He must have some important news from the way he's hurrying."

"I know a secret," screamed Chatterbox, as he settled on a nearby branch and dropped his wings to steady himself. "I was away up on a high cliff just now right above the place Mrs. Golden Eagle has her nest. And I heard her say, 'What would you like to have today for your supper, dearies, a nice fat snipe hen, or a cotton-tail, or a prairie dog?'"

"And all the little eagles called out, 'Bring us Jack-rabbit, Mamma, it's best!'"

And Mrs. Eagle said, "All right, darlings, you shall have it. I know just where to get a fine one, for I saw Johnny Jack's mother and daddy go out not more than half an hour ago."

"That's all I heard," panted Chatterbox, eagerly, "and I come to tell you at once because Johnny Jack Rabbit is all alone."

Alluring

A pretty face is doubly so when framed in a Gage Hat. Let us show you the new fall styles, just arrived. Come today while stocks are still unbroken.

Homesteading and piecing.

Mrs. Anne Rice

1005 Gallia

Now let us consider the satin frock. In the first place, The Fashion is showing several weaves of this glossy fabric. Among them are plain charmeuse, charmeuse, robe, satin, caftan, and chumrin.

Tiers, flounces, platings, heavy embroideries showing all over effects are being sanctioned by Dame Fashion. The tiered model in satin is a very interesting thing. It shows a three or four tiered skirt, thinking of the hem line as one tier, the dropped, though noticeable waist-line, often seen with a rather wide crushed girdle, long tight sleeves, which have the turned gauntlet cuff either of lace or self material.

Pleatings, tiny ones set into the skirt, the waist, interesting patch work of squares of these, tiny panels of very fine accordion or flat pleatings, aprons of pleatings, sleeve ends of these are seen in many fall dresses of satin. Some of these dresses show the wrap around skirt idea, which skirt is very tight and plain over the hips, with the waist full and bloused to give ample contrast. The skirt of these models show all over embroideries or stitchery, which make the skirt a very tight and intricate looking affair and gives ample contrast to a waist which lacks trimming of any kind. ## Puffed Wheat

Do you believe that children need whole wheat, daily and in plenty?

Then serve them Quaker Puffed Wheat in their bowls of milk. These are whole grains steam exploded—puffed to 8 times normal size. The food cells are broken for easy digestion. And the thin, crisp, toasted grains make the dish delightful.

Quaker Puffed Wheat supplies 12 minerals which growing children must have. It provides the needed bran, and milk supplies the vitamins.

In the morning serve Quaker Puffed Rice—the premier breakfast dainty.

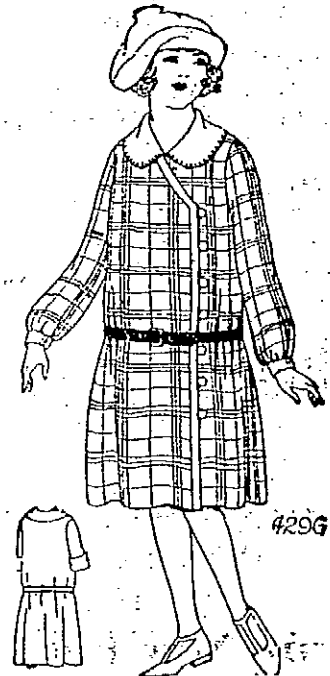

These are food confections. Children revel in them. Thus they get whole-grain nutrition in the finest form created.

JACK DAW'S ADVENTURES — UNDER THE GROUND

As soon as Flip landed safe and sound in the huge tablecloth, Jack asked Mother Earth what place he was in. "Why, you are under the ground," she replied. "You are down where all the minerals come from." And then she asked Jack if he would like to take a trip around.

JACK DAW'S ADVENTURES — UNDER THE GROUND

Jack was so interested that he forgot all about the baseball that he had followed into the big hole in the ground. "I should say I would like to see the sights here," he replied. "All right," said Mother Earth, and as she clapped her hands, two little coal-black men appeared.

Huntington Horseshoe Pitchers Are Outclassed

Well, Huntington came down Labor Day morning to pitch horseshoes. The game started at 10 o'clock and the last one was pitched at 12 o'clock. The visitors had 5 men, we asked them how they wanted to play. They said every man play each other three point game. Alright. That would make 75 points.

Out of these Portsmouth won 69 and lost 16. Portsmouth's pitchers made 616 rings and 3032 points. While Huntington made 350 rings and 982 points.

Huntington can well boast of one player. This chap, being named Beckett. He won 9 out of his 13 games, making 126 rings and 318 points. A good thing that there was one Beckett.

Hughes won most games for Portsmouth, winning 14 out of 15, losing his last game. Mitchell and Ashworth were next, winning 13 out of 15. Kelly next with 11 out of 15 and Cline with 8 out of 15. Portsmouth players winning the majority of their games.

Mitchell proved to be the best pitcher, throwing of the crowd, ringing 155 times in 15-25 point games, making an average of 10 1/3 rings against Hughes, who was second, with 131. Ashworth third, with 130, and Beckett, of Huntington, next, with 126.

Results—Round 1
Court 1—Mitchell won 3 straight from Sowers. High man Ashworth 24 rings, 75 points.

Court 2—Mitchell won 3 straight from Callahan. High man Mitchell 31 rings, 75 points.
Court 3—Marshall won 2 out of 3 from Cline. High man Marshall, 23 rings, 75 points.

Court 4—Hughes won 3 straight from Brumfield. High man Hughes 22 rings, 75 points.
Court 5—Beckett won 2 out of 3 from Kelly. High man Beckett, 17 rings, 65 points.

Portsmouth won 11 out of the first 15 games.

Second Round
Court 1—Hughes won 3 straight from Sowers. High man Hughes 22 rings, 75 points.

Court 2—Kelly won 2 out of 3 from Callahan. High man Kelly 28 rings, 70 points.

Court 3—Ashworth won 3 straight from Marshall. High man Ashworth 20 rings, 75 points.
Court 4—Cline won 3 straight from Brumfield. High man Cline 20 rings, 75 points.

Court 5—Beckett won 2 out of 3 from Mitchell. High man Beckett 33 rings, 62 points; Mitchell 33 rings.

THE LATEST SHOWING OF FALL CHAPEAUX

We are mixing our English with our French, but that is necessary when we are talking hats. We have mixed our designs too. We are showing new Fall hats that are entirely French. We are showing new Fall hats that are entirely American. We are showing hats made in America from French designs and we are showing hats that have a mixture of French and American ideas. We are thoroughly up to the minute in hat fashions.

As to the styles, let us say that with the exception of one or two dominating features, your style of hat is your style of selection.

Hat designers have recognized the fact that one certain style will not fit all faces, and so, with some of the dominating fall style features added to the style that best befits you, you can follow your own ideas in your millinery. We are now showing:

The French originate and create, for the inspiration of America and that is why you hear so much of the Paris-New York millinery. We invite you to view our showing. Millinery priced $4.50 and up. 2nd Floor

MR. C. REED, LOCKBOURNE, O.
Mr. Clark Reed, steel worker with the Buckeye Steel Casting Co., living at Lockbourne, Ohio, is delighted over his experience with Kad-ol. He says: "A few weeks ago I was on the Main street market and felt decidedly blue, as I was suffering from an acute attack of rheumatism and felt as though I had a million pins sticking into me. I ran across a friend of mine and he noticed my condition. He immediately told me he was pretty sure he knew of something that would help me and advised me to get some Kad-ol and take it right away. I acted on his advice and took some three bottles with me. After I had taken Kad-ol for a few days I noticed a wonderful change in my condition. I continued taking it regularly for several weeks and am now entirely well. Kad-ol not only relieved my rheumatism, but it helped my general health, my feet stronger and better in every way. I am working every day, eat hearty, sleep well and can stand up to my work as well as anybody. Kad-ol seems to have driven all the rheumatism out of my system, and I deem it my duty to tell others about it." Kad-ol can be had at Fisher and Streich's and all other druggists. -Advertisement.

AFTER 14 years of enforced idleness because of ill health, "Uncle Jim" Keeler, widely known Maryland citizen, gained forty pounds, and at the age of 80 years goes back on the job every day. Mr. Keeler gives Taniae entire credit for his remarkable recovery.

JAMES H. KEELER

"I am now eighty years old, but in spite of that fact I have gained forty pounds by taking Taniae, and am able to work every day for the first time in fourteen years," is the truly remarkable statement made recently by J. H. (Uncle Jim) Keeler, 3706 32nd St., Mt. Rainier, Md., a suburb of Washington, D. C. "I was in such a bad fix from stomach trouble that my friends gave me up three or four times. Since taking Taniae, I eat and digest everything, and do a young man's work. All I can say is this, I thank God for Taniae."

Taniae is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold.

Mine Victim Dies

Doss Hunt, a miner, who several weeks ago was injured so badly in a mine accident in Liff, Ky., that his left leg was amputated several days ago in a hospital, passed away there late Saturday night. Gangrene poison developed Saturday, when his condition took a decided change for the worse.

Mr. Hunt, who was about 38 years old, is survived by his wife, Josephine, a daughter, Charlotte, and numerous other relatives and friends. Mr. and Mrs. Hunt formerly resided in Fullerton before going to Liff, Ky. Funeral services will be conducted from the Bennett Chapel near Fullerton at 2 p. m. Wednesday.

Little Girl Hit By Auto

Little Janet McGovern, six-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. McGovern, Wheelersburg, suffered concussion of the brain and numerous bruises about the body, when knocked down by a machine being driven west on Gallia street Saturday evening, as she attempted to cross the street from the Universal Garage.

The little girl's parents were in the Universal and Janet was left with Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Walters and children, Dorothy and Bob, of Twenty-Second street, who were in their machine parked in front of the garage. The Walters children started across the street, followed by Janet, who failed to notice the approaching car. The driver of the car, which hit her, assisted in taking her to Dr. A. R. Moore's office on Gallia near John, where her injuries were considered not very serious.

Mr. and Mrs. McGovern were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Walters until Sunday evening, when they returned to their home. Little Janet is improving steadily and will be able to be about in a short while.

Youth Kills Self Accidentally

CARTER, Ky., Sept. 4.—Coleman Ramon, 20 years of age, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Ramon, three miles from here, accidentally shot himself with a shotgun late Saturday afternoon, dying almost instantly.

Young Ramon had been hunting and met a friend with a sled, stopped for a conversation with him. On arising from the sled to continue his journey he accidentally caught the hammer of the gun in such a manner as to cause it to explode, the entire load going the way out and causing death to follow.

Mr. Ramon belongs to one of the oldest and best known families in the county and had just recently married.

His wife, father and mother and several brothers and sisters survive to mourn his death.

The young man was known in this city and has some relatives here. A sister lives near Shoam, Ky., and an uncle, Albert Ramon, lives at South Portsmouth.

Fine New Restaurant Is Opened

The Queen City Restaurant opened its doors to the public Monday evening for dinner at five o'clock.

The new dining room at 520 Chillicothe street, with its Syra's, the proprietor, replaces Syra's previous establishment in the adjoining building, and at the opening last night were welcomed many old patrons who have known the manager and his restaurants for years.

The building has an attractive frontage of buff brick and the interior decorations harmonize throughout with the Italian gray finish of the woodwork and paneling, buff tile floor, rose walls and softly shaded side and ceiling lights.

Bright new silver for the tables and the fresh linens added much to the attractiveness of the place. Many compliments were extended the manager.

Bauman's six piece orchestra provided a program of music during the evening and will play nightly for several weeks.

The management promises to keep the new dining place on a par for high-quality foods at moderate prices with Syra's other restaurants which have been favorably known here. It will carry a complete line of sea foods, an innovation among present eating places here.

Piketon Republicans Nominate Ticket

Piketon, September 4.—The Republican convention held at the opera house last night was anything but an old-time love fest, as several sore spots developed, especially in the matter of selecting two members to make the race for members of the Board of Education. In the selection of candidates for Mayor, members of the Board of Public Affairs and members of the Board of Education it was necessary to take a ballot and in the selection of the candidates for members of the Board of Education it was necessary to count the ballots three times as a mistake was made in counting the ballots the first two times.

Dr. I. P. Seiler was chosen as Chairman of the convention and James Carson as Secretary. The meeting was called to order at eight o'clock and the selection of candidates for municipal offices was held first. The names of E. G. Bateman, Frank Silcott and John W. Downing were placed in nomination for the office of Mayor, and after ballot the vote stood: Bateman 3, Silcott 4 and Downing 20. John W. Stratton, present incumbent of the office of Village Clerk, was nominated for re-election unanimously.

Harley H. Britany was nominated unanimously for Village Treasurer, and our present efficient chief of police, G. A. Markham, was nominated unanimously and he will be a candidate to succeed himself at the November election. The gentlemen who are at present serving as members of the Village Council, T. N. Patterson, Frank Silcott, E. S. Dally, T. J. Markham and G. W. Rittenour were nominated unanimously to succeed themselves and the place occupied by Ralph Fishburn at present member of the council and who refused to be a candidate, will be filled by Floyd Ware, who will be a candidate at the November election.

The names of five men, G. A. Harris, J. M. Miles, Russell Talbott, Charles Dawson and Allan Foster were placed in nomination as candidates for members of the Board of Trustees of Public Affairs. Three members were to be nominated and the ballot showed the following result: Talbott 25, Foster 18, Dawson 13, Miles 15 and Harris 14.

T. J. Markham, the present Assessor, was nominated unanimously as a candidate to succeed himself. The real fight was made when the time came for the selection of candidates for members of the Board of Education. The names of Dr. I. P. Seiler and S. S. Dally, who are at present members of the board of education, were placed in nomination, as were the names of Frank Silcott, Clyde Cheesman and John W. Cooper. Of the five candidates two were to be nominated. As there were more candidates for the nomination than there were members to be elected it was necessary to take a ballot. The first count, according to the secretary, James Carson, showed the following result: Silcott 19, Seiler 17, Cheesman 15, Dally 12 and Cooper 5. It became evident that a mistake had been made and the votes were counted again. The result was: Silcott 10, Seiler 15, Dally 12 and Cooper 5. Silcott and Cheesman being the high men and winning the nomination.

The selection of the candidates for members of the Board of Education concluded the Piketon convention and the Seal Township convention was then held, with the same officers in charge, Dr. Seiler acting as chairman and James Carson as Secretary. The following are the candidates selected for township offices: Board of Trustees, George H. Yeager, Fred Kress and John Delay; Assessor, Frank Nance; Clerk, John W. Stratton; Members of the Seal Township Board of Education, Otis Farrill and Ira Hawk; Constable, John Justice and Dick Richardson. In the event that Piketon Democrats can muster enough members to hold a convention, they will choose a ticket to oppose the above-named municipal candidates at the November election.

To Continue Pike Co. Normal School

PIKETON, Sept. 4.—At a meeting of the Pike County Board of Education, held at the office of County Superintendent O. F. Williamson, at Waverly, Saturday, it was voted unanimously by that board to continue the Pike County Normal School at Piketon for the coming year. The State Department of Public Instruction has appropriated a sum of $1,200 to help defray the expenses of the Normal School at Piketon for the coming year and the unanimous decision of the County Board to continue the school at Piketon makes the school an assured fact for at least another year. Fifteen students have signified their intention of enrolling at the school and the entrance examination which is required by law, will probably be held some time this week. A director for the school has not yet been employed.

Machine Trouble Causes Delay To Elopers; They Wed, However, at 2 o'clock in The Morning

VANCEBURG, KY., Sept. 4.—A very romantic wedding took place here Saturday night, or rather Sunday morning, when Rev. M. N. Picklesimer united in the marriage bonds, Guy Evans, 17, steel worker, of Portsmouth, and Miss Bertie Hughes, 15, of the same place.

Arriving in Vanceburg at 1:00 a. m. Sunday morning, they awakened County Clerk Orville Tammann from his sleep and got him to go to the court house and issue to them a marriage license.

They then repaired to the house of Rev. M. N. Picklesimer, whom they also awakened and when the preacher had performed the ceremony, it was two o'clock in the morning.

The groom paid the preacher his fee and they returned to Portsmouth. The couple stated that they started for Vanceburg early Sunday afternoon, but they had trouble with their machine, which resulted in their reaching Vanceburg at 1:00 a. m.

Denies Stealing Sedan

MIANCHESTER, O., Sept. 4.—Roger Graham, 20, was locked up here Saturday charged with taking a Ford Sedan belonging to Elijah Kirk of Maysville. He was taken to Maysville in the car Sunday morning by Kentucky officers. He says he can produce the man from whom he bought the car and that no attempt was made to conceal the property. His father went to Maysville with the officers.

XV.—New Guinea Where East Meets West

THE hideous waves of the Coral Sea broke around Wisdom II as we entered the Lousiade Archipelago and saw the shores of New Guinea—the largest island in the world, the British half of which is larger than the United Kingdom—before us.

Twenty-five years ago this was a land of head-hunters and cannibals. Now, in localities where missions have gained a foothold, school children can read, write and understand the simpler forms of arithmetic while, in localities as yet unreached by missionaries or gunboats, it is declared that cannibals continue to eat whom they call kill.

In the broad bays of New Guinea, queer-shaped crab-claw sails catch the wind. Nowhere else in the world are such sails to be seen and we watched with the roll of small canoes, now driving large, native lakatois and catamarans, where two or three canoes were fastened together to form a support for a large platform on which natives carried their produce from one island to another to trade.

In building lakatois the logs are not hollowed out as for canoes but dug out like a cylinder with closed tapering ends.

How fast the craft tore through the seas under their great matting sails! And how curious it was to see natives beach the boats, lower the sails in lengthwise folds, and go ashore to trade pottery for foodstuffs, shells for eggs and yams. Only one village on the coast of New Guinea makes these crab-claw sails but they may be seen in many waters about the island.

At Samarai, the port of entry to New Guinea, on Friday Island, perhaps so named by Robinson Crusoe, we had to wait a few days while the residents wrote letters for us to the customs officials made an inventory of our possessions. And between times everybody united in entertaining us royally.

From Samarai we ran up the coast to Fife Bay and landed on the actual New Guinea. The South Sea rolled behind us and we were in a new world—the Great Eastern Archipelago.

The Bird Taboo

A curious method of the race preservation is practiced on some of the many islands which fringe the eastern coast of New Guinea. I found all the islands inhabited by Papuan tribes; black, well-built and comparatively healthy. These tribes prohibit intermarriages and have appointed a bird taboo for each family. For instance, a white cockatoo is taboo to one family and no family with a white cockatoo may marry a woman belonging to another family with the white cockatoo crest—so to speak. They must choose wives from families whose taboos is a blue parrot, a dove or a pigeon. This is the only tribe I know which practices this method of preventing intermarriage, and by not permitting unions between families with the same taboo they are able to continue their race, as it has been proved by tribes without such system of taboo, who marry relatives, that its members soon die off.

During all my explorations in these islands I did not see a single Albino, while such products of intermarriages are quite common in the Solomons.

But neither did I find in New Guinea any tribe in which a wife could not be purchased in exchange for a pig or trinkets, and whose life was not wholly at the disposal of her husband, to be taken in any fit of temper in which he might indulge.

What the Missions Do

We landed in Fife Bay at the headquarters for Anglican missions in New Guinea. The Government directs where missions may locate and this eliminates competition and also confusion in the minds of natives.

Mission-trained natives have learned to comb their hair and keep their bodies clean and many of the girls have been taught to weave mats and baskets and have become proficient in the arts of lace-making and drawn-work. Their handiwork is sold to traders and shipped to New Zealand and Australia for sale.

It was a curious spectacle to see classes of natives sitting on the beach with their slates. The girls were attired in a skirt of combed leaves varied with a fringe of pandanus for variety of color, and so many layers, were often worn that the skirts stood out like ballet dresses. Their costumes were completed by necklaces and bangles of blended shells and with flowers in their hair over the forehead and ears. Many had straight hair and married women could be distinguished by their short locks.

But with these exceptions the natives on Fife Bay seemed to prefer the ways of the heathen and lived in primitive squalid hives. Widows had their faces and bodies blackened with soot and custom decrees that they may not bathe, even to exhibit the elaborate tattooing in blue with which women of this vicinity have their faces and bodies adorned in conventional designs. Strings of shell money supported the ear-drops of wealthy women while others had a drapery of ornaments hanging from holes all around the edges of their ears.

The usual dress of men was a loincloth of cotton or bark and neck and ear ornaments.

Dinner for the Natives

It was about dinner time when we landed in Fife Bay. Natives of the village were busily baking sweet potatoes and yams; frying bananas, roasting fish, and cooking sago—the principal food of the island. One old man was absorbed in the occupation of skinning a big lizard, each stroke of the knife whetting his appetite for this delectable morsel. Back from the coast natives habitually eat lizards, snakes and similar reptiles, but these are scarcely on the coast and are prized accordingly.

No modern stoves have found ment for men, with the back partitioned off for women, who used the back entrance. Up a notched log young girls climbed to their sleeping quarters on the floor above and there was no furniture to dust since all sat and slept on mats.

Mailu did not indulge in loafing and the natives kept their own minds to wear at dances. This is one of the pottery-making villages and the people also smoke fish and make mats to trade for foodstuffs on the mainland.

A little further along the coast, at Kalle, natives dwell in a little Venice of houses standing on piles in the lagoon, some distance from shore. Some said that this isolation was for the purpose of escaping mosquitoes and others, of avoiding cannibals, although in the rainy season there is little to choose between them in an attractive support, and their huddled arrows have a metal tip, shaped like a tea-leaf. Many of them are beautifully engraved on the shaft with carvings as delicate and exquisite as the chasing of a silversmith on silver and gold.

This great island of Papua is a hunter's Elysium of game; a bird sanctuary for innumerable feathered creatures. It is the haunt of several varieties of birds-of-paradise and countless millions of parrots, cockatoos and lorries. Its jungles are filled with thousands and thousands of pigeons and doves. There are some thirty-two known varieties of doves in their recesses and lowlys are so prolific that on my trips to the interior I have seen flocks of such magnitude alight on trees that branches have broken beneath their weight and set awing a whirling kaleidoscope of color—blue, green, red and all the hues known to parrots. The lowly is the size of a pigeon and flies much faster than a parrot.

Natives have been in the habit of hunting birds-of-paradise for their plumes, which were exported in great quantities to Paris, Belgium, Netherlands, England and Germany. But three years ago the Australian Government forbade the killing of these beautiful creatures and now they may only be captured in Dutch Papua.

The bird-of-paradise lives deep in the jungles far back from the seacoast and it is very hard to get them because of the difficulties and dangers encountered in traveling through high tide they can sit in the parlor and fish.

All the way from Samarai to Fife River a mountainous coast line lifts rugged heights on the southern shores of British Papua, and around the Gulf of Papua which extends far into this region. Often the mountains drop sheer precipices to the sea. A barrier reef, well of shore, protects the immediate coast from the heavy breakers which roll in on the southeastward.

We cruised three hundred miles from Samarai to Port Moresby, the capital and main headquarters of British New Guinea, situated near the eastern extremity of the Papuan Gulf, and it was strange, as we approached the dry belt in which this town is situated, to note the sudden change from the green verdure of the jungles to an arid waste like northern Australia or Arizona.

Across Fife Bay from Port Moresby is quite a large village devoted to the making of pottery. In this village built out over the water the potter's art of the past is done by women and the pottery is loaded on great catamarans and taken to other tribes to trade for sago, yams, taro and nuts, together with the skins of the wallaby, and gun feathers, which the natives are fond of tying in bunches as ornaments for the hair.

Here we saw girls bring woven baskets filled with clay, which they had dug in the woods, and deposit their heavy burdens beside the women who squatted or knelt on the ground and shaped the damp clay around in an attractive support, and their huddled arrows have a metal tip, shaped like a tea-leaf. Many of them are beautifully engraved on the shaft with carvings as delicate and exquisite as the chasing of a silversmith on silver and gold.

This great island of Papua is a hunter's Elysium of game; a bird sanctuary for innumerable feathered creatures. It is the haunt of several varieties of birds-of-paradise and countless millions of parrots, cockatoos and lorries. Its jungles are filled with thousands and thousands of pigeons and doves. There are some thirty-two known varieties of doves in their recesses and lowlys are so prolific that on my trips to the interior I have seen flocks of such magnitude alight on trees that branches have broken beneath their weight and set awing a whirling kaleidoscope of color—blue, green, red and all the hues known to parrots. The lowly is the size of a pigeon and flies much faster than a parrot.

Natives have been in the habit of hunting birds-of-paradise for their plumes, which were exported in great quantities to Paris, Belgium, Netherlands, England and Germany. But three years ago the Australian Government forbade the killing of these beautiful creatures and now they may only be captured in Dutch Papua.

The bird-of-paradise lives deep in the jungles far back from the seacoast and it is very hard to get them because of the difficulties and dangers encountered in traveling through the whole of the Delta Country, which extends many miles back in the interior, is one great swamp of tangled vines and roots through which great waterways thread their way.

Overhead villages in this country are not the safest to visit. Here the citizens tie their houses in the tops of the trees and are liable to mistake any intruder for an enemy and roll stones down on him, a little way they have of breaking skulls.

Whole forests of such villages rock in the winds of Papua. A spacing of bamboo is securely tied with native hemp to the limbs of trees and as often as not there are no walls beneath the peaked roofs of sago palm thatch. Kopes form the stairway to these sleeping chambers of tribes of black ferocious warriors.

When we made camp in the Fly River Delta we, too, would swing our hammocks in the trees. There was not a dry place within miles. We gathered dead branches and made a fire and smudge around us, mosquitoes, but even then we could not open our mouths to speak that intrusive swarming mosquitoes did not immediately avail themselves of this opportunity to get in and choke us.

We got into our hammocks beneath the perfectly waterproof canvas before dark and the minute night fell took refuge under our nets.

Progress was slow because the jungles were so dense that natives were obliged to cut a way for us through the whole journey, and many a crocodile infested river had a race of small people and not pygmies at all.

Falling to cross the bar of the Merauke River in heavy swells which would have pounded the Wisdom II to pieces we sailed up the western coast of the Aru Islands and stood in to anchor at the lee side of one of them when we came upon a scene that was amazing.

In every direction, as far as we could see, the water was broken by the splashes of leaping fish. The funny hordes seemed to be a vast multitude of bonita and were about fifteen to twenty-five inches in length and weighed an average of ten to twelve pounds each. Natives, in their canoes, were so intent on spearing the fish, and catching them with fish-hooks or tortoise-shell mounted on bars of mother-of-pearl, that they paid no attention to our approach.

Nearly every canoe was filled with fish and without dreaming what effect the sight of a large vessel would have on the busy fishermen we tooted the Wisdom's whistle. The natives, who were already frightened the natives to death. They swung their canoes about and paddled for shore like mad. In its haste to escape, one canoe capsized, but none of the others paused to rescue the men in the water. Two of them righted their boat, clambered over the side, and ran away as fast as they could, leaving a companion in the water two miles off shore.

We stopped to pick him up but he was so terrified that even he tried to swim away from our boat. By the time we anchored off the little village of Ngabor the natives had gotten over their fright and came down to the beach, and we lowered a boat and went ashore.

A Native Reception

The chief was there to give us cordial welcome and all the village had swarmed to meet us. Suddenly the chief shouted a command in the Malay tongue and the crowd scattered. The chief's interpreter told us that he had sent his people to prepare for our reception.

We found these islands quite different from the natives to the eastward among whom we had been for more than a year. They were small of stature, yellow-skinned, and with a Chinese cast of features, and looked like a mixture of Mongolian and European, and all were without shoes or hats.

Drawn up on the beach where we landed were the queerest craft I have ever seen. They looked like so many gigantic pumpkin seed, eighteen feet long and flat, like our scooters. These oval-shaped boats were made of heavy logs and hollowed something like a skiff and held a number of people.

The chief invited us to his village, which spread its thatched roofs on a small hill just on the edge of the forest. Two hundred spears of the beach, and a band of twenty musicians who were playing on flute-like instruments of graduated sizes for our entertainment, took up the tune of a march and escorted us on our sight-seeing from house to house.

Not only the village orchestra but a brood of children, dogs, lovebirds, wallabies and cassowaries followed our steps so that we greatly resembled a circus parade of the "good old days" back home, especially as the chief and his retainers had donned for the occasion some discarded coats of Dutch officers, which they wore over their sarongs.

The residence of Ngabor were the most modern in appearance of any native houses we had seen in more than a year. It was October, the harvest time of nutmegs, and about the houses stood great bamboo baskets filled with the fragrant nuts.

Thin, hungry-looking, tired-faced women gazed at us as we passed. They wore a sarong wound about their bodies; a strip of cloth which answers to a pareo or a lava lava.

Several old men, sitting in the shade of the houses, offered to make us the apara, bows and arrows which they were fashioning, for a bit of tobacco or anything else we might have to exchange.

A Native School

Of course we were taken to the school, where a native teacher gave instruction in the Malay language, and the children were made to sing and dance for us, just as children are compelled to entertain visitors in civilized communities. But the dance of these children was interesting because of its queer little hops, diversified by throwing one foot in front of and across the other, and the melodies played by the village band were musical and inspiring to the little dancers.

When we had inspected every inch of the village under the guidance of these hospitable natives our escort trooped down to the beach where the chief presented us with some very fine feathers of the bird-of-paradise, some of them great yellow plumes twenty inches in length.

He told me that the Chinese purchased most of the plumes from his tribe and sold them to Dutch traders for goods valued at about fifty guilders, or $16 each.

The Aru Islands of Dutch Papua are noted for the splendid plumage of the great yellow bird-of-paradise, the finest of which adorn the jungles two days' journey in the interior.

From the village of Ngabor we spread our sails for the Banda Islands, the most northwest, and long before we reached their green towers upon the sea, the white waves across the seas to lure us thither.

We anchored and explored as we cruised among these strange peoples in strange seas, and at last the spice-laden winds enfolded us; Bali Island, that ancient seat of Javanese culture, stretched its green towers upon the sea, and lifted its temples against a sky of shimmering blues. We were in the Orient.

The New Guinea Mainland

But the great wild expanses of New Guinea called to us and we sailed to the mainland, where the natives are great hunters and use both spears and bows and arrows to bring down game.

We found guides for a hunting expedition although the method these natives employed did not appeal to sportsmanship. Leading us beyond the rising of a hill in a great tract of rolling country covered with high coarse grass, a group of hunters set fire to the grassy slopes behind us. Smoke and flame rolled and swept in our direction.

Up started the game and speeding like the wind and flame that pursued them they raced into the open before us. Wild hares trotted behind the speeding deer. Wallabies bounded from the grass, the cassowary fled before the flames, and as they came the helpless creatures fell before our shots and the spears and arrows of native hunters.

New Guinea natives are also great fishermen. Their fish-arrows are finished with a cluster of three or more prongs of varying lengths fastened to the shaft by bamboo splints or fibre wrapped around and

Firpo Getting Down To Real Training

CANTON, Sept. 4.—(By The A. P.)—The Firpo fight, which will be the main attraction of the night, will be a real battle for the world's heavyweight boxing title. Firpo, who is a native of Argentina, is a powerful fighter, and is expected to give Dempsey a hard fight. The fight will take place at the Garden City Athletic Club, New York, on September 11.

The Firpo fight is well pleased with the improvement he has shown in the last two weeks. While they expect him to fight in his own peculiar style, they believe that the defensive tactics he has practiced here will stand him well against Dempsey.

Changes In Football Rules

Following is a condensed statement of changes in football rules this year. On the new rulings, the ones relating to inside kick, forward pass, fair catch, kicking ball, and delaying game are the most important. On the inside kick, the inside kick shall be abolished except on the kick-off. Scrimmage line: All players must be either on the line or at least one yard behind. Clipping: Offended team may accept fifteen-yard penalty either from spot where play started or where clipping occurred. Forward Pass: In case of illegal forward pass, penalty may be declined. This covers questions of interception of illegal forward pass. Forward Pass (defined): Ball passed through or handed forward by one player five yards behind line of scrimmage to another shall constitute forward pass. Try for point: Time out shall be taken on the try for point. Fair Catch: Where two or more men signal for a fair catch, a player not signaling can take the ball. Touchback: It is not a touchback when player offside and within opposing team's ten yard line shall touch the ball. Kicked ball: Five-yard penalty for player touching ball kicked by member of own side is eliminated. Delaying game: Referee may impose penalty if team is late in reporting at start of game.

Crash At Underground Crossing

A Chevrolet touring car, owned and driven by Louis Sinapius of Columbus figured in an accident at the underground crossing at Lucasville yesterday afternoon, when the machine, which was south bound, crashed in a bank on the west side of the road. In order to avoid two north bound cars which were coming through the crossing at the time, the front right wheel of the Chevrolet was smashed, but the seven occupants, including two women and four children, escaped unhurt. The party was enroute to Ironton.

Courier And Radio Get News Of Disaster To Outside World

SAN FRANCISCO, CALIF., Sept. 4.—(By The Associated Press)—The first word to reach the outside world direct from Tokyo since the disaster which overwhelmed Japan's capital and chief port last Saturday, was relayed to the Iwaki Radio station by a courier, under a system set up by The Associated Press through wire leased orders, as soon as the direct communication had failed in the face of the great holocaust. Carriers were sent from Iwaki station, 155 miles to Tokyo. The Associated Press correspondent meanwhile is believed to have started couriers northward to the plant as not enough time had elapsed for a round trip to have been made under the difficulties and of a journey from the capital to the radio plant. The courier system however, was unhampered.

Puzzling Play's

By Daily Evans

THE PLAY. Here is a rather unusual play that came up in the minor this year and caused the umpire to have a very unpleasant afternoon. With runners on first and second and no one out, the batter hit a long drive to right field that the two runners decided would fall safe. They started to run at the crack of the bat. The fielder made a remarkable catch of the ball. When he did so the runner on second was almost to the plate, while the runner originally on first was almost to third. The fielder threw the ball to the second baseman, who held the ball on that bag. Since the runner originally on second had left that base long before the ball was caught, touching of the base with the ball retired him, making two out. Since the runner originally on first was almost to third when the catch was made, the player believing that touching second base also retired him, making three outs, in his gloe over what he regarded as a triple play, threw the ball to one of the outfielders who was expecting the throw and the ball rolled to the fence. The runner from first, who was almost to third, retraced his steps, touched second on his way back and then first. On so doing, he turned and reached third base before the ball could be returned to the infield. What about this play? Did touching second retire both runners, completing a triple play? The umpire, who held the ball on second, and then believing that he had completed a triple play, threw the ball into the outfield, was in error. While it would have been impossible for the runner to have touched first base with a fielder standing between him and the base with the ball, still, the mere touching of second didn't complete the play. The runner who retraced his steps to first and then managed to reach third, was entitled to that base. A double, not a triple play, was made by the slide in the field.

Reports that the premier, Count Yamamoto, has been assassinated are current; but there is little confirmation for any stronger statement than that he was attacked and that the attacker's aim was frustrated. The attack is said to have been made at a meeting in the navy club where a number of statesmen were forming the new cabinet. The floor collapsed, and the premier was injured, but the meeting was continued in an adjoining building and its business completed. Viscount Takahashi and 15 others are reported to have been killed while attending a party meeting. Several islands, including Enoshima, noted beauty spot, and one of the Bonin group, on which is the Japan end of a trans-Pacific cable line, are reported to have disappeared below the surface of the sea, but there has been no confirmation of this. Communications are at a standstill. It is expected that it will be at least a month before the Tokaido line, running from Tokyo to Kobe, will be in operation again. Airplanes are being used to carry official messages from Osaka and Tokyo. The sinking of the ships at Yokohama harbor when the tidal wave struck have been heard from. A number of naval vessels at Yokohama, the naval base, were driven ashore by the tidal wave and some are said to have suffered explosions in their magazines. There have been explosions of oil storage tanks at Yokohama and of gas storage tanks at Tokyo, great damage resulting. More than 200,000 houses have been destroyed in Tokyo, it is estimated. At least two years will be required to rebuild the city. The American, French and Italian embassy buildings have been destroyed, as has the Chinese legation.

Rosemont Road Gts R. F. Delivery

The Rural Free Delivery of the U. S. Mail has been extended out Rosemont road and there is much rejoicing at the neighbors in that vicinity. The first service was given on Saturday, September 1, and there will be one delivery each day. The service starts from this city at 7:30 a. m. and reaches Rosemont road at 8 o'clock.

Jack Has Day Of Rest

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Sept. 4.—(By The A. P.)—Jack Dempsey is enjoying a day of rest today, probably the last he will have before finishing training for a fight tomorrow for the defense of his title against Luis Angelo Firpo September 11. The champion, weighing 193 pounds at present, is satisfied that he has reached the peak of his training and intends to work for speed for the next few days. Manager Jack Kearns said Dempsey probably would take off about four more pounds, which will send him into the ring scaling about 189 pounds, his best fighting weight.

The Jewish New Year

The Jewish New Year, of Rosh Hashanah will be celebrated in all Jewish places of worship, Monday evening, September 10, and on Tuesday morning, September 11. Among the more ritualistic New Year is observed on the beginning of a new year in a religious sense only. It must therefore not be confused with the secular New Year, since it is a day not to mark time but to register anew high resolves of duty toward God and man. The religious conceptions and aspirations of the New Year's day and of the Day of Atonement which follows ten days later were undoubtedly involved in part after the time of Ezra. The lofty ideals which are associated with these holy days were gradually interwoven in various areas and under different influences. Rosh Hashanah falls on the first day of the seventh month in the Hebrew calendar. This day "shall be a solemn rest unto you, a memorial proclaimed with the blast of horns, a holy convocation," as written in Leviticus 23:24. The rabbis have conceived the first day of the holy month of Tishri as a day of divine judgment when God meets out to each his destiny in accordance with his deeds as recorded in the Book of Life. The stirring notes of the Shofar (ram's horn) sounded on this day, call the congregation of Israel to repent and to improve their ways. The three blasts of the Shofar which tradition has fixed for the liturgy of the New Year proclaim the supreme conceptions of Judaism, namely, that God is King of the World, that He is Judge who judges men and nations in righteousness according to their deeds and thoughts and that He is ruler of history. The Day of Judgment is thus set by the Jewish religion in this life and not in an after-world. The main purpose of the New Year is to render it a day of renewal of the heart, so that man may put himself in rapport with God who inhabits eternity. That the worshipper may restore his flailing faith in man and lift the clouds of despondency that engulf him are among the many salutary purposes invoked on this holy day.

Three Die In Explosion

ROANOKE, Va., September 4.—(By Associated Press)—Three men were killed and twenty were seriously injured early tonight by an explosion in the blast furnace at the Pulaski Iron Company, Pulaski, Va. according to early reports received here by telephone. At least 15 workmen were reported missing. Volunteer relief workers were searching the ruins for other victims. Later advices said the plant was wrecked and that rescue workers were experiencing great difficulty in searching the ruins. The message added that not more than five men were missing. The bodies of William Bird, of Pulaski, and two unidentified negroes have been recovered.

Leonard and Dundee Clash Tonight

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—Benny Leonard and Johnny Dundee, respective holders of the world's lightweight and featherweight titles, have applied the finishing touches to their training for the fifteen round match Wednesday evening at the Yankee Stadium in which Leonard's title will be at stake. Dundee, who recently scaled under 126 for the battle in which he took the feather crown from Eugene Girgis, is having no trouble making weight for his ninth scrap with Leonard, while the lightweight king also declared he is close to the 125 pound mark now.

Stanley Schroeder Wood Alcohol Victim

Stanley Schroeder, former well known traffic officer, and who for several months has been employed as a brakeman on the Cincinnati division of the N. & W., is in Mercy Hospital in a serious condition, the result of drinking whiskey, which contained wood alcohol. He was removed there last night at 10:30 from his boarding place on Third street. He was unconscious for several hours and hovered near death's door. Later he regained consciousness after strong emetics and stimulants had been administered and Tuesday it was stated at the hospital that he has a good chance to recover.

Dayton's Air Meet Attended By Throng Of 100,000 Persons

DAYTON, O., September 4.—(By Associated Press)—One hundred thousand persons witnessed the greatest air carnival ever presented at McCook field today. Twenty one events were on the program, the features of which was the longest flight yet made by the Bunting Bomber and the destruction of a fort by means of bombs dropped from the air. The ray was ideal for flying, except for a light wind at the higher altitudes. There were no accidents to mar the day. Demonstrations by the T-2 transport plane in which the coast-to-coast non-stop flight was made, the first public appearance of the DeHavilland Holoholter and destruction of a fan observer balloon during which the observer jumped to earth in a parachute were on the program.

Chicago To Get 1924 G. O. P. Meet

NEW YORK, September 4.—(By Associated Press)—Frederick W. Upham, treasurer of the National Republican Committee had expressed himself in favor of Chicago, he said. San Francisco, which Mr. Upham said had a "powerful bid" for the convention, "would have a chance" he declared, "unless President Coolidge expressed a desire to have the session held elsewhere than at Chicago."

BULLETIN

SAN FRANCISCO, CALIF., Sept. 4.—(By The Associated Press)—Casualties from the earthquake and fire total 500,000 and 300,000 houses have been buried, it is estimated by metropolitan police of Tokyo, according to a courier from Oyama who reported to day at Yamato to the radio corporation of America. The report, received in San Francisco this morning, said the imperial palace was being guarded by one regiment of infantry, a battalion of engineers and the imperial guard division.

Big Litter Is Safe

SAN FRANCISCO, September 4.—(By Associated Press) The Toyo Kissen Kaisha steamer Korea Maru is safe in the harbor of Yokohama with 2,500 refugees on board, according to a cablegram received at the consular office here today from its agents in Kobe. Communications of all kinds have been reopened up to Numa, 55 miles west of Tokyo, the cablegram said. The Korea was in the harbor throughout the beginning of the disaster period and was at once made available for relief purposes. She was to have sailed for San Francisco yesterday, but the sailing has been indefinitely postponed. The cablegram said that Tokyo and Yokohama "have been destroyed."

Former Premier Victim

NAGASAKI, September 4.—(By Associated Press)—Prince Masayoshi Matsukata, former premier and lord keeper of the privy seal, has died from injuries suffered in the earthquake, according to a report received by the Nagoya Railway Bureau.

Food Riots Result

SAN FRANCISCO, September 4.—(By Associated Press)—Food riots have broken out in Tokyo according to a radio telegram received tonight by the Radio Corporation from Iwaki station, 155 miles from Tokyo. The Government is now from its advisers to have exerted the most strenuous measures to suppress the disorders even attacking the rioters with their swords. A number of Koreans were in the mob, the advices said. The advices confirmed early reports of great fire in Yokohama and an estimate that there had been at least 100,000 casualties there. The fires, the message said, were caused by or followed by the explosion of oil storage tanks in the city where reserves of fuel oil for the merchant navy and for the army were kept. Nogyama, a better class residential section of Yokohama; Iseya, another section where stood a statue of Jo Naosuke, prime minister of the Shogate to foreign intercourse and opened to foreign intercourse; and Kamon-yama, a third section, all were destroyed, leaving thousands in extreme misery. There has been no news received in Japan from the Bonin Islands, on which is located a cable relay station and it is feared the advices declared that the land there was submerged by the tidal wave following the tremor.

Yokohama In Total Ruins

NAGASAKI, September 4.—(By Associated Press)—There is no building left in Yokohama; only ruined walls are visible, according to the captain of the Shimo Maru, which has just arrived here from Yokohama. Thousands of refugees gathered in a park were half drowned by a flood caused by the bursting of the city water pipes. The fire in Tokyo, it is reported, subsided about five o'clock Sunday evening, which is held to mean that nothing inflammable was left in the city. The Chinese legation was among the destroyed buildings. The inmates of the Tokyo prison, including recently arrested socialists were liberated when the building caught fire. From today army airplanes will fly between Tokyo and Osaka to carry important news and official mail.

Bridge Falls Many Killed

SAN FRANCISCO, September 4.—(By Associated Press)—The famous Ryogoku Bridge, spanning the Sumida river in Tokyo, collapsed at the time thousands of refugees fleeing to the mountains were upon it, with resultant loss of lives described as "incalculable." Keiji University at Tokyo, the higher technical school, the Kuramas Women's higher normal school and the first high school have been burned. Yotsuya, a ward of Tokyo, east of the Imperial Palace, was burning at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, no further advices thence having reached the radio station.

Thousands are Homeless

PERKING, September 4.—(By Associated Press)—Wireless messages interpreted from the steamer Korea Maru said Yokohama harbor state that fire is still raging throughout the city and thousands of homeless are concentrating in the city parks. Food supplies for the victims are already beginning to arrive, it was said. The messages report there was a second day of fire at Yokohama at 6:20 o'clock last Saturday evening. The Emperor and Empress are reported safe at Niimi-while the Prince Regent Hirohito is said to be unharmed in Tokyo. The fire in Tokyo, according to the messages, was brought under control Sunday at noon after virtually destroyed five wards.

SEATTLE, WASH., Sept. 4.—(By The Associated Press)—The passenger liners, Empress of Canada and the Steamship President Jefferson, which came within a radius of the tidal wave zone off the coast of Japan, are safe, according to word received by the Canadian-Pacific line agencies here.

Gas Leak First Cause

OSAKA, September 4.—(By Associated Press)—The reason for the rapid spread of the fire which took such an awful toll in Tokyo came to light today when it was learned that the pipes conveying gas lighting and heating purposes throughout the city were broken by the earthquake, which shook and twisted the ground almost unbelievably. The escaping gas promptly caught fire in dozen places, each outburst a torch that lighted dwellings on all sides of it. Thus the whole lower section of Tokyo was kindled at once into an inferno of flaring gas torches from the breaks in the main, blazing wooden dwellings and glowing metal beams and girders from the newer and more modern structures, healed by the flames. The air was not yet filled with the dust of the broken buildings which had crumbled from the force of the earthquake when these fires broke out, bringing death to end the suffering of many people, beneath the wreckage and stopping the efforts of untrained persons to rescue their less fortunate fellows. A high wind whipped the flames rapidly from burning regions to others at a distance. In the face of such a conflagration, fire fighters could make but little headway. The gas pipes had broken the water mains and there was nothing wherewith to fight the flames advanced. The fire, uncontrolled more than 24 hours, eventually was checked through the use of explosives, soldiers blowing up hundreds of houses and lightly wounded Japanese houses with bombs to form a barren strip in the path of the flames.

London, September 4.—(By Associated Press)—Italy is holding Corfu which commands the Adriatic, as a pledge for Greek reparations and is waiting grimly for Greece to comply with her ultimatum. Greece, having appealed to the League of Nations, is also waiting and Italy thus far has ignored the protest of the council of ambassadors against her action in seizing Corfu.

The Greek legation here made public the text of the Greek reply to the ambassadors council, proposing the appointment of the council of the commission consisting of three members for an inquiry into all the circumstances of the Janina crime, and declaring readiness, if Greece is found in any way responsible to grant all reparations decided upon by such commission. The reply requests the intervention of the council with Italy.

Outlook is Gloomy

The prospects of an early settlement are not improved. The Italian government takes the stand that it did not sign the treaty of 1867, which confirmed the nationality of Corfu and is therefore not bound by the treaty. Premier Mussolini has instructed the Italian representatives at Geneva to abstain from further discussion of the affair, and the only hopeful aspect that Italy seems disposed to have the court of international justice pronounce on the league's competency to deal with such an international dispute.

"Bill Jones" Shortened His Working Day

"When I started," Jones says, "I started wrong. I made money but I let it slip through my fingers."

"Then to keep even, I had to work longer hours, take poorly paid jobs and scratch along without getting a dollar ahead."

"Then about four years ago I 'woke up,' and started a savings account at the FIRST NATIONAL BANK. Part of my pay went into the Bank every pay-day and soon I was made a foreman down at the shop."

"Now I'm working shorter hours and getting real money. Some day my savings account is going to help me take things easy."

Greco-Italian Tangle And Jap Disaster Reflected In Stock Markets

Foreign Bonds Show Marked Weakness

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—Weakness of Japanese bonds as a result of the earthquake disaster was the feature of today's early bond dealings. City of Tokyo 5s dropped ten points and recovered 1. White Japan 4s and second 4 1/2s and the 1st 4 1/2s dropped 1 to nearly 3 points, but made up about half their losses. Oriental development stocks dropped 2 1/2. Other weak spots in the foreign group were Czechoslovakia 5s and Australian 7s each of which fell about a point. Railroad issues were mixed. St. Paul issues being among the conspicuous heavy spots. Virginia-Carolina Chemical issues were strong. Detroit Edison advanced 1/2 and public service of New Jersey 5s each of 1/2. The weak spots of the public utilities division. United States government bonds moved irregularly within narrow limits.

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—The depressing influence of the Greco-Italian dispute and the Japan disaster which adversely affected the London financial markets yesterday was extended today to the local market which displayed a heavy tone at the opening. Losses of a point or more were established on initial sales by Bethlehem Steel, American Can, American Agricultural Chemical preferred and Colorado fuel.

Additional selling orders forced losses of 1 to 3 1/2 points in Canadian Pacific, Union Pacific, Baldwin and Gulf States Steel, but the market soon turned upward in response to active bidding for Davidson Chemical, which advanced 1 point to 40, and which Truck which rose points, and which to 10 points also were established by May Department Stores, General Electric, Dupont, Puma Alegre Sugar, Beech Nut Packing, Union Pacific and Nickel Plate. The features of the foreign exchange market was the creation of new low records for the pound by demand sales at $1.53 1/2 and German marks at seven cents a million.

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—After bobbing up and down in the first hour during which the food shares were conspicuous, strong and steady, fourteen loads of Montana steers averaging 600 to 1100 pounds to feeders at $10.00 to $10.50; four loads at $10.50; few heavy calves 4.00; bulk vealers early to outsiders 11.00 upward; sheep receipts 12,000; fairly active; fat lambs 11.00 to 11.50; aged stock around 2 1/2; lamb steady; no western fat lambs sold; head around 12.25; better grades native fat lambs mostly 12.50 to 12.75, early 12.75; culls largely 9.00 to 10.00; fat lightweights ewes 7.50; feeding lambs around 13.50.

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—Stock prices reacted one to three points in reflection of the Japanese earthquake disaster and the growing tension over the Greco-Italian situation. Selling was believed to have been influenced by the creation of new low records for the year by the British and German exchanges and by the suspension of work in the anthracite mines. Sales approximated 550,000 shares.

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—The closing prices of the Greco-Italian tangle and the Japan disaster were reflected in the stock markets. The closing prices of the Greco-Italian tangle and the Japan disaster were reflected in the stock markets.

PIKETON

The Seal Township Democrats proved themselves to be a real live wire organization, when they held a very enthusiastic meeting at the John's Corner school house, for the purpose of selecting candidates for the township offices which will be held Tuesday, November 6th. The meeting was called to order at 7:30 by the Seal Township central committee, Louis Brunsberg, and George N. Lechman, Sr. of Warren. Route 4 was chosen as chairman and George Schuster of Piketon, Route 1, as secretary of the meeting. The first business to come before the meeting was the selection of candidates for members of the Seal Township Board of Education, two candidates are to be elected this fall. The names of George N. Lechman, Jr. and John Channell were placed in nomination and unanimously selected by the house. The balance of the Township ticket followed. For members of the Board of Education, three to be elected, Frank Allman, Edward Valley and William Holt. For Township Clerk, George N. Lechman, Jr. For Assessor, Walter Graham. For Justice of the Peace, Joseph Reed. The following committee was chosen to call any necessary meeting, to occur on the ticket, George N. Lechman, Sr., George Schuster, John M. Moore, Ed. Valley, Warren Blakeman and Jacob Wicket. In view of the fact that it is a difficult task to muster a corporate's guard of Democrats in Piketon, the Democrats of this village have not yet held their convention, but it is very probable that they will be called to convene at the opera house Monday night, Sept. 3rd, for the purpose of selecting their ticket.

Georgeous Gowns Worn By Stars In Great Photoplay

Bebe Daniels and Nita Naldi. Royally Garbed in "The Gimpuses of the Moon"

There are thrills and thrills for motion picture patrons, but perhaps the most interesting of these will be the thrills that come in rapid succession in Allan Dwan's production for Paramount, "The Gimpuses of the Moon," with Bebe Daniels, Nita Naldi, Ruby de Renier, David Powell, Maurice Costello and Charles Gerrard in the principal roles.

And these thrills will not be provided by hair-breadth escapes from alligators or dare-devil leaps over cliffs but by the sheer beauty of the gowns worn by the three feminine players who have the leading parts in the picture. A list of the gowns reads like the wardrobe list for an entire production. Miss Naldi wears a sable wrap and one of summer evening, as well as several silk capes. There are three negligees, five evening gowns, five afternoon gowns, and ten hats. There are several other gowns of fashionable design which Miss Naldi wears.

Bebe Daniels, in the role of Susan Baruch, wears a marvelous collection of gowns, wraps, negligees, suits, hats, street wraps and furs that are guaranteed to "knock the eye out" of all who see them. There is Ruby de Renier, who has the role of the frivolous, Elsie Vanderlyn, Mrs. Wharton's novel, and her wardrobe for this picture includes some twenty changes. Among these are five evening gowns, several street dresses, a sealskin fur suit, a three-piece suit, and five hats and two wraps.

Besides these, principal stars are minor feminine parts that call for luxurious costumes, and Director Dwan has seen to it that all of the women who appear in his production are smartly and appropriately gowned.

A modiste's shop, with which the story opens, is a fitting background for another display of costly costumes, furs and wraps worn alike by maids and purchasers, the total cost of which is said to equal the cost of an average feature production.

Donahy Is Orator At Fall Festival

CINCINNATI, September 4.—(By Associated Press).—Service to others, progress in education and the pursuits of the peaceful arts "bring to any people advantages vastly superior to those which can be attained through turmoil and war," Governor Donahy declared today in an address before crowds at the annual fall festival here tonight. The speech was the second made here today by the Chief Executive.

The Governor congratulated the city on its celebration, and declared that the festival represented "the labor industry, knowledge and enterprise of the people of this section of the country."

In his earlier address delivered at the dedication of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks' National Hall, he urged organized labor of the state to vote for the proposed constitutional amendment which forms a part of the compromise program for revision of the law drafted by the Ohio Manufacturers' Association and the State Federation of Labor would eliminate the legal liability feature of the law.

Mr. Fitzgerald, President of the Clerks Union, who also was a speaker at the dedication, again shared honors with the Governor by speaking tonight from the stage of the Music Hall, where the festival ceremonies were held. Mr. Fitzgerald outlined the causes and organization of his union and closed his address with a plea of justice for trade unionism in general.

Thousands of Letters

LITERALLY thousands of letters recommending the use of S.S.S.—the great blood purifier and system builder—all telling how S.S.S. restores the state of well being by creating red blood cells are received daily by the manufacturers of S.S.S.

What S.S.S. has done for others it will do for you. Is your vitality sapped—your courage gone—your health undermined—your brain misty—do you feel old time fighting spirit missing? Do you want to get back to the days of "once before"—the days when you were young and strong—healthy and buoyant—when your brain was active and your spirit alive with ambition?

S.S.S. is the great safe way to restore health, energy and vitality. Since 1874, S.S.S. has been bringing back clear, sparkling, red—radiant expressions of well-being—building up nerve power—sending red blood coursing through the system—building red blood cells. Your nerve power is here in the blood cell. Increase your red blood cells and watch yourself improve.

S.S.S. makes stronger and healthier bodies—bodies free from impurities—free from rheumatism—free from skin eruptions—eczema, blackheads, pimples and boils. Any leading drug store will supply you and, for economy, get a large size bottle.

WIN AND LOSE
CHICAGO, Sept. 4.—St. Louis and Chicago divided a double header Monday. The Braves' pitcherless run of the season ended a pitching battle in the first game between Keen and Stuart, the visitors winning 1 to 0. Barnhart weakened in the tenth inning of the second game, and with the bases filled, O'Farrell singled to center, giving Chicago a 5 to 4 victory. A crowd estimated at 35,000 witnessed the double header. Score:
